Twp. Authority Awards Contract

BENSALEM TOWNSHIP, Sept. 15 — The Township Authority last night awarded a $36,790 contract for construction of a well and pumping system for the new high school to R. M. Luff Construction Company of Willow Grove. Four other firms submitted bids. The new high school is under construction on Street road west of Hulmeville road.

Members of the authority also discussed methods of co-ordinating between the Authority and the School Board any suggested changes that may come up for the new high school. School Board Member J. Maurice Tomlinson was present.

Street Repairs Disturb Budget In Hulmeville

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 15 — Considerable concern was expressed by Hulmeville borough councilmen at last evening's meeting over treasury balance, expected receipts, and anticipated cost of re-surfacing three streets.

Discussing the problem from various angles, councilmen were not certain when the session ended whether they will be in financial position to re-surface all three thoroughfares in question — Lincoln, Ford and Reetz streets—or just one or two.

Council's decision was to advertise for bids, and make the decision later which street or streets will be improved. Through the advertisement, bids are to be sought for surface treatment (oil and crushed stone), bids to be in separate units (each thoroughfare).

The secretary informed council she has received no reply from the State Highway Department regarding matching funds. The council has under consideration re-surfacing of Main street after curbs are installed by property owners.

President George Bilger called upon the Rev. E. Clarendon Hyde for opening prayer. Absentee councilmen were Fred Bunting and Willard Bartoe. In charge of records was secretary, Mrs. Edward Black.

Word was received from the Pennsylvania State Highway Department that it has adopted Hulmeville as a state highway, this extending but one block (Bellevue avenue to Main street). The state will assume responsibility for maintenance of this street.

Weed Problem
Notices are to be sent by the secretary to a number of owners of vacant lots, requesting that weeds be mowed.

Four members arranged to attend the meeting of Bucks County Boroughs Association at Riegelsville this month.

Among complaints entered before council were the fact that when Lincoln avenue had been opened by a utility company, proper repairs of a bowling alley and skating rink.

Street Fair Planners

JOHN KRUEGER, street fair chairman, and John A. Collins, president of Falls Township Civic Association, examine posters announcing the association's street fair, which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mercantile Tax Law Enacted By Tullytown

Businessmen Protest Rates, Ask Reduction

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 15 — Desperate to resolve an anticipated $15,500 deficit, Borough Council last night enacted a 1½ mill retail mercantile tax at a meeting attended by protesting merchants from the Levittown Shopping Center.

After a long discussion of the measure, the councilmen cast no dissenting votes for the tax and moved to seek to refund overpayments as quickly as possible. The ordinance also levies a one-mill tax on each dollar of wholesale business, and requires $2 vendors' licenses.

The delegation of businessmen was headed by Victor Fischer, president of the Levittown Shopping Center Businessmen's Association, and manager of the Sears, Roebuck and Company store, who estimated the levy would collect $20,000 a year from the shopping center. Councilman Arthur Leigh, chairman of the finance committee, pointed out that state law would allow the borough only $14,000 in mercantile tax levies, and would require the merchants to be proportionately credited for overpayments.

Urge Lower Rate

The businessmen urged a lower tax rate, and then asked that the refund be more immediate. Before they stated their case, Herman Otto, director of the Lower Bucks County Branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League, outlined the borough's need for the tax in what he termed a "rough" estimate of the financial picture.

Otto said Tullytown has a current budget of about $11,000 in income and $14,000 in expenditures, but declared that if borough finances continue in their present trend, it will take in $19,500 and spend $35,000. The difference, $15,500, was termed by Otto, "a very, very substantial deficit."

Council President Nicholas Eberle said the solution to the debt was in reducing services, or setting the mercantile tax. "We

Duke Sloan Charts Concrete Crevices For Councilmen

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 15 — Levittown Duke Sloan, whose "cracks" about sidewalks and streets in his community have occupied the attention of Council at several consecutive monthly meetings, last night presented to the meetings a chart tabulating crevices in the concrete from 331 Lakeside drive to 273.

"These streets have been carefully examined," Sloan said in a letter read to Council. "There are transverse and longitudinal cracks far in excess of normal expectations."

"We have it on competent authority," Sloan continued, "that water seeping into the street bed through curb cracks will further undermine the street. It is estimated that the street will have a life of only 12 years instead of 25 years life usually obtained from concrete streets. Unless these curbs are replaced staggering repair and maintenance costs will confront both old and new Tullytown residents."

"We accepted the streets after the Federal Housing Administration approved them," Councilman Arthur Leigh said. "This problem comes up monthly. How about if we find out once and for all, did the FHA fall down on the job?"

"The burden lies with the borough of Tullytown," Solicitor William H. Conca said. "It is the burden of the community to repair the streets."

4-Year-Old Boy Struck by Auto

Four-year-old Ronald Bryant, of 408 Court C, Bristol Terrace II, was struck by a car at Magnolia road and Foster avenue near his home yesterday. Bristol township police reported.

Officer Bentley Chapin said the boy ran across Magnolia road into the path of a car driven by Dr. George B. Hood, of 245 Radcliffe street. The child was taken to Bristol General Hospital for treatment.

Water Problem Sifted By Borough Council

Women Join The Force

POLICEWOMEN Mrs. William Trimble, 125 Andover drive, Fairless Hills, and Mrs. Stanley Watkins, 235 Trenton road, Fairless Hills, direct traffic in front of Oxford Valley School. The women, who joined the Falls Township force last week, work three times a day at the school crossing. They plan to have uniforms in the future.

Tullytown Groups Will Discuss Levy At Meeting Tonight

TULLYTOWN, Sept. 15 — Tullytown Council and the local school board, scheduled to appear in Doylestown Thursday before the Board of Assessments and Revision of Taxes, will meet tonight to discuss their protest of the $345,000 assessment of the Levittown Shopping Center.

Borough Solicitor William H. Conca maintaining that the meeting was set on "pretty short notice," said he has asked for continuance of the session for four or five weeks, but has not heard an answer from the county seat.

Conca said he sought the continuance, "To give us time to prepare our case. That's not the final hearing," he told Council last night. "If we're dissatisfied with the results, we can appeal to the court of common pleas."

Councilman Arthur Leigh, chairman of the finance committee, said that Warner co., owners of land whose assessments Council criticized as too low, agreed to increase where the land is mined for sand and gravel.

"Levitt has not agreed to anything yet," Leigh said. "We met with them Tuesday for three hours and nothing was accomplished." Leigh expressed the hope that the Shopping Center dispute could be settled without a hearing.

District Meeting To Push Plan For Technical School

The proposal to organize a technical school for Lower Bucks County will come up for further discussion at a meeting of school districts in the area at Neshaminy High School tonight.

According to J. Russell Straub, president of the Bristol Township School Board, the school districts of Delhaas, Bensalem and Pennsbury have already approved the plan and an attempt will be made to secure final approval from those districts which have not yet committed themselves to the program.

Preliminary plans call for the division of responsibility for maintaining the school and the number of students to be admitted from a single district on a proportional representation plan according to population figures.

The costs, not only of maintenance, but also of capital investment, would be divided on the same basis.

It was understood, that although most districts approve the plan unofficially, many have not yet had the opportunity to vote on the proposal due to vacancies in their ranks because of the vacation season.

A second meeting on the technical school proposal to take up any questions that may still be outstanding will be held Sept. 24 at Delhaas High School.

Eddington Kids Frolic At Firemen's Fete

EDDINGTON, Sept. 15 — Some 350 shouting children were on hand Saturday for the Volunteer Firemen-sponsored Eddington Day, a first annual celebration. Fire Chief William Thomas said firemen hoped to make the celebration an annual affair.

Little two-year-old Janet Pankrez opened the festivities officially by sounding the fire siren at noon. A program of contests, rides on the fire engine and hayrides followed.

Winners in a bicycle safety contest were Robert Weston, James Ramsey, Margie Hughes and Donald Anderson. Firemen noted that most children who participated lost because they failed to stop at a stop sign on the course.

Civic Association To Hear Report On Levittown Homes

LEVITTOWN, Sept. 15 — A Levittown homes in connection with the complaints of a number of homeowners dissatisfied with the construction of their homes will feature the meeting of the Levittown Civic Association at the Edgeley Fire House tonight.

The report will be made by Joseph Landow, 2 Lavender lane, chairman of a committee named at the last meeting of the association to amass all pertinent information relative to the dispute.

While Landow examined specifications of the builder in Levittown, another group composed of Jules Levin, 142 Lakeside drive; Duke Sloan, 313 Lakeside drive; George P. Knapp, 260 Lakeside drive, chairman of the Tullytown Taxpayers League, and Joseph J. Hittor, 18 Glenwood lane, held a conference with William A. Kelly, Philadelphia director of FHA, in which they sought information concerning FHA specifications on Levittown lands.

Presumably, an attempt will be made at the meeting to reconcile the report of the committee with that of Landow, preparatory to any action on the matter the association may adopt.

Following the meeting with the FHA director on Sept. 8, the committee said they had agreed with Kelly not to announce the results of their meeting for the present.

Duke Sloan would only say that "it was decided to have a further meeting."

Man Freed After Drowning Attempt

EMILIE, Sept. 15 — A Bristol Township man, whom it is claimed on Sunday night tried to drown himself in Neshaminy Creek, was released yesterday, following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Rene Tritschler.

Joseph Gallagher, 917 Newportville road, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, before he was released. Gallagher was taken to Bristol jail on Sunday night after he was pulled from the creek by township policemen.

County Republicans Hear Fall Candidates

Buckingham, September 15 — More than 200 Bucks County Republicans gathered in the Royal Republican Club at Buckingham last night to get a first hand glimpse of the GOP candidates who will run in the November general elections.

Pre-campaign speeches from the candidates urged a heavy Republican turnout.

However, the unexpected visit of Representative Karl C. King, Congressional leader of the Eighth District, highlighted the evening speech-making. Representative King started a rumbling of discussion among the county-wide leaders when he told them he would support the new post office program that is destined to close up some of the fourth class post offices in the county.

"At present, the Postal Department survey of Bucks County is not complete," explained Congressman

Pass Resolution For Extension Of Area of Service

Water was again the chief topic of discussion at a meeting of Bristol Borough Council held last evening. All councilmen were present with the exception of Joseph Ferry, who is ill. The invocation was by the Rev. George E. Boswell, pastor of St. James Church.

Burgess I. J. Hetherington Sr., informed council of attending the dinner and meeting of the Delaware Valley Association which was given as a testimonial to Senator Edward B. Watson in recognition of his work in advancing legislation for the improvement of the canal in the New Hope area. Hetherington was critical of Senator Watson's work in behalf of the canal in the New Hope area and not in the lower Bucks County region.

Usual Arguments
When the water question was projected into the deliberations of council there resulted the usual arguments and discussions. A resolution was offered and adopted by a vote of 10 to 6 to include an area extending from the Neshaminy Creek to Haines Road, embracing a strip about three miles by 3000 feet beyond the present water mains in Bristol Township. In the application to be filed with the PUC as territory to be served by the Bristol Water Department. This is the territory which was included in the original application which later was cut-back to that territory now served by the existing water mains. Now the application is to ask for the original area.

Those voting "No" were Alta, Gilbert, Riley, Duffy, Polyak and Pearson. Those voting "Yes" were Lynn, Stroble, Pascale, Spinelli.

Borough Council Finance Committee Is Reorganized

The finance committee of Bristol Borough Council was reorganized, last evening, when John Gallagher, president of council, announced the personnel of that committee. The committee now consists of the chairman of the other committees of council and is composed of Joseph Ferry, chairman; John S. Lynn, William H. Pearson, Richard T. Myers and William Wallace.

President Gallagher also stated that he had added John Breslin to the fire committee.

President Gallagher informed council that he wants the chairman of the various committees of council to take full responsibility for the work of the committee and to make every effort to keep within the budget. He said that he wants council to be conducted in an orderly manner, so as to expedite the sessions, and requested councilmen to stick to the facts in the discussions.

King, "And no figures are available, but some of the county post offices will be closed. In the long run it will be successful in cutting expensive costs but yet maintaining present service."

Rejects Demos
Representative King threw aside the idea that the Democrats are ready to move into the rapidly expanding lower Bucks section.

"There is no indication that the lower end of Bucks County will be Democratic in the next election," said Representative King.

"A recent registration taken throughout that section shows that the Republican Party has maintained a steady majority."

The club president, State Senator Edward B. Watson, called upon the candidates to introduce themselves to the County GOP leaders in order to acquaint them with the men who will run on the Republican ticket.

Mercantile Tax

might reduce police, lighting and incidentals," Eberle said. "They are the three basic things. But how are you going to reduce them?"

Cut Force

"We've cut down the police force as low as we possibly can," Eberle said. "We used to have contributors, who stopped contributing."

William J. Levitt, president of Levitt and Sons, supported the borough's general fund with money for the police force for a year, but discontinued the practice in June.

"We'll have to maintain the roads in Levittown," Leigh said. "I feel that the budget could be $10,000 to $50,000 from now on."

Borough Solicitor William Conca said the purpose of the mercantile tax is "to supplement real estate taxes."

Conca described the tax law he drew up for Council as "a good ordinance" and said it was tested in the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

"If we get a surplus, you'll get a credit on next year's tax," the attorney said. "Next year the mercantile tax may only be one-half mill. In the third or fourth year, we may be able to do away entirely with the tax."

"They need the money immediately," Conca said of Council. "They can't go out and borrow it. It's just unfortunate situation that arose in the early part of June."

"A burden was left in the laps of Council in June," the solicitor said. "We were told by the principal land owner, 'That's it, fellows, we can't go any farther.'"

Police Protection

When a member of the Businessmen's Association said the shopping center was not getting full police protection, former Police Chief J. W. Kratz retorted: "I have noticed the police trying each and every door in the shopping center every hour. I'd like to know why they're checking the doors there when it's not done in my part of town."

"We are paying a real estate tax through our rental," Fischer said. "We are part of Tullytown. We have a community interest. We ask that you work out our problem and see if we can find a workable agreement."

"A three-fourths mills rate sounds reasonable to me," Fischer later said, noting that his estimate of $30,000 was more than double what the borough could use in a year. With other members of his group, he proposed that the ordinance be amended with half the original rate.

"We don't have the time," Conca said. "It would have to be drawn up all over again," he said, and added that the new ordinance would have to be advertised before action could be taken. Conca said that until the ordinance is passed, the borough has no borrowing power.

Adopted by Council at the end of the discussion, the tax will take effect October 1. Returns must be filed before November 15.

Pennsbury School Seeks Bids on Bus

PENNSBURY, Sept. 15 — Last night's joint meeting of Pennsbury School Board was one of the shortest the group has had yet, according to George Roberts, treasurer of the board.

Medell Bair, regional secretary of Pennsbury schools read a general report on the opening of the school. According to Bair, though Pennsbury enrolled the largest number in its history, opening day went off with the least amount of confusion.

The board authorized specifications for bids for another school bus. The need for a new school bus has developed as a result of traffic conditions in the area. Buses have not been able to make their runs as fast as the board had thought, according to Roberts.

The group took care of routine business. Four representatives from the Levittown area visited the meeting, but had no suggestions to make to the board.

G. O. P. SESSION

HULMEVILLE, Sept. 15 — The initial meeting of the season for Hulmeville - Middletown Parent-Teacher Association has been postponed from tomorrow until Sept. 23rd. The session will be held at 8:30 in the Hulmeville school house.

Don't Overstay Your Welcome When You Visit Classrooms

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

GET yourself and your child ready now for his first day at school. In the few remaining days before school opens, you can help him grow acquainted with some children who will be in his class, if you have not already done so. It would be fine if a few of these playmates could go with him on that first day in your car, or with him as he walks.

Unless you and he have already met his teacher, you will want to go with your child the first school morning. Graciously present him to the teacher as you would present an honored guest. Then go home and don't linger long in doing so.

Leave Promptly

The teacher has so many new children and their mothers to contend with that she will appreciate your leaving promptly. If you hang around, you will only render her work harder and his dependence on you greater. Just imagine yourself in the teacher's place if you and a score of other mothers should stay for a long while.

If you call for your child in the evening, be there not a minute too soon. The only reason you should choose to go to bring him home is for his safety. If he lives no more than four or five blocks away, you should walk and teach him safe ways of crossing the streets. Even so, it will be very desirable to invite some of his classmates to walk with you.

If you continue to be anxious about his safety, why not work out a plan with several mothers to take turns in going with or returning with the children, whether you walk or drive?

Should your child live within

easy walking distance, it might be well for you and a neighbor to take turns at meeting the children part way from school, thus observing the byways these children might be tempted to take, and guiding them in choosing the most direct route.

Surely you will want to be home when your child arrives home, especially during the first several weeks. His warm welcome then is precious. He likes to tell of his experiences of the day. His doing so amplifies his independence of you. Furthermore, this welcome motivates him to come directly home, and helps keep him from learning to loiter on the way.

As a rule, your child will have classmates who live in your neighborhood. You help him get along with other children at school as you find ways for him to have good times with his playmates in the home neighborhood, attracting them to your premises, letting him go to their homes.

If he wishes to stop at a playmate's on his way home from school, contrive a way by which you know when he plans to do so. Usually, it's better for him always to come right home and do his visiting afterwards.

If you have reason to suppose he is tormented on the way to and from school by bullies, you will want to drop by at various times and places to ascertain the facts, and then devise ways for such protection as is necessary for his self-defense.

Let me urge parents of children three and four to cultivate self-reliance and independence in these youngsters, and encourage them to have lots of fun with other children of their age now, to make them better equipped for starting school.

a prison camp. Little has been learned. Conversation at the supper table at his home and at breakfast today in the home of Joseph Sagolla sometimes touched on that experience, but somehow never quite got answered.

Plans by borough residents to throw a big shindig for the returned POW are held in abeyance.

"Atillio wants to see a lot of his family. After that it's OK if the bottom drops out," Marsaglia declared.

The pressure of seeing people last night became somewhat trying at times to Cpl. Cauti so that several times he went for brief automobile drives to gather himself together.

A brother, Pvt. Victor Cauti was not present to welcome the Korean veteran. He is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. He is scheduled to arrive home sometime this week on a special furlough.

THERON BAMBERGER

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 15 — The managing director of the Bucks County Playhouse at New Hope, Theron Bamberger, died last evening in Mount Sinai Hospital, here. He had been in ill health for one year. Hospital authorities said he died of malignant hypertension.

He had completed 13 years as director of the Playhouse and had announced previously that this was his last year at the Playhouse. He planned to start his own theater in New Hope next year.

Mr. Bamberger had also operated the Theater in the Park, Fairmount Park, Phila.

One of the outstanding pioneers in raising summer stock theater to its present high level, he began his career as a Philadelphia newspaperman. He switched to the theater as a press agent and then as a producer.

His most notable Broadway success was the play, "Tomorrow the World," which first was produced in New Hope.

During his career, he launched many leading motion picture and stage personalities on their careers from the Bucks County Playhouse — including screen star William Bendix and last year's Academy Award winner, Shirley Booth.

During World War II, he operated the Bucks County Playhouse in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia because the gasoline shortage prevented many theatre-goers from attending his presentations.

He took over the theater in 1941 after Richard Bennett and St. John Terrell, producer of the Lambertville Music Circus, bowed out.

He is survived by his wife, Phyllis Perlman, a New York theatrical press agent.

JOHN M. BAUER

CROYDON, Sept. 15 — John M. Bauer, who had served as the first superintendent of Calvary Baptist Sunday School, Bristol, and who was a former deacon and trustee of Calvary Church, died at his home, 613 Rosa avenue, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bauer had been stricken ill while vacationing at Miami, Fla., in July. He was an employee of Philadelphia Electric Storage Battery Co.

His survivors are his wife, Frances C.; a son, Jackson, of this community; three grandchildren; and a brother, William Bauer, here.

Lehman Strauss, a pastor of Calvary Church, will conduct service at two p. m. Thursday at the Morden funeral chapel, 133 Otter street, Bristol. Friends may call Wednesday evening.

J., suffered bruises of the left knee and foot when she was struck by an automobile yesterday at 7:53 p. m. on East Bridge street near Washington. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, in the Borough ambulance.

According to police Miss Kostrub stepped out of her car which was parked and started across Bridge street when she was struck by a car driven by Frank Walker of 530 South Warren street, Trenton. Patrolmen Joseph Cavanaugh and Frank Picciotti investigated.

Taxpayers' Group Hits Morrisville Street Extension

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 15 — The Morrisville Taxpayers' Association last night sent a letter to the borough council, urging council to ignore the proposal by the Morrisville Businessmen's Association to cut a street extension from Washington street to Union street.

The letter listed 13 reasons why the taxpayers' group opposes the suggestion. The excessive cost of such a project, is one of the main reasons according to John V. Sawyer, president of the group. The taxpayers also point out the effect the opening of the freeway will have on Morrisville. According to Sawyer, figures show that about 60 percent less traffic will enter Morrisville streets.

The group also feels that such a project could be carried out more cheaply by private business than through the public condemnation proceedings that might be necessary, if the work were done by the borough.

The group also heard a report from their committee studying rezoning plans for the borough. A special meeting of the executive committee of the association will be held on Friday night, to discuss the plans further. Sawyer urged all taxpayers to attend Tuesday night's meeting of borough council, when the rezoning proposals will be discussed.

County Republicans

In the fall election, Senator Watson reminded the assembled group of a "candidates' night" that will be the campaign kick-off on Oct. 12 at the Loyal Republican Club.

Attending the celebration Oct. 12, with both state and county candidates on hand, will be Hon. J. Colvin Wright, of Bedford County, and Harold L. Ervin, of Delaware County.

Donald W. Vanartsdalen, candidate for district attorney, succeeded present District Attorney Willard S. Curtin, lauded the present Republican Administration in Washington for thwarting the "foolish Socialist idea that has been introduced into our country by the past Democratic regime."

Urges Vote

Mr. Vanartsdalen urged that Bucks County Republicans turn out and roll up a heavy vote.

"Bucks County is now one of the focal points of the country," said Vanartsdalen. "We now are in the midst of what could be called an industrial revolution soon to be supplemented with an industrial population. A population that, as has been the past, will be well cared for and well housed in the usual administrative policy that has long been the outlook of the county Republican party."

"We want to show up the existing myth that has been a pivot point of the Democrats for many years. That myth concerns the premise that labor always votes for the Democratic Party. The past Presidential election is enough evidence to prove the fallaciousness of that type of thinking."

Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, who was named as Third Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the County by Governor John S. Pine on Nov. 27, 1951, is the unopposed Republican choice for a full ten-year term. He addressed the audience briefly and urged support for candidate Vanartsdalen.

Candidates

Other Republicans scheduled for the November slate who were introduced are: C. LeRoy Murray of Warrington, for sheriff; John A. Collins of Falls Township, for Recorder of Deeds; Raymond Bleisstein of Durham Township, for Prothonotary; County Comptroller Howard G. Krupp, for County Comptroller, and Sanford F. Cunningham of Upper Southampton Township, for Jury Commissioner.

Senator Watson reaffirmed his stand on the new state sales tax. He said that the entire tax will be used for the state educational system. "It all adds up to what is the heaviest educational budget in the history of the state," he said. "Fifty-one per cent of the annual budget is allotted to the educational program. There is 30 per cent for health and welfare and the remaining 20 per cent is used for running the state government."

County Comptroller Krupp warned his fellow Republicans that "we should not let our guard down in this so-called 'off year.' County Republicans should aim as far ahead as the next gubernatorial race that points to another Republican victory."

Other guests of the Loyal Republican Club were: Assemblymen Wilson Yeakey and Marvin V. Keller. The pre-meeting song session was led by Earl Hanby, Bucks County prison warden. After the introduction of candidates, entertainment was provided by a vocal quartette, the "Philadelphia." Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Big Oak Pastor To Be Ordained

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 15 — Arthur Freeman, pastor of the Big Oak Community Moravian Church, Lower Makefield township, will be ordained as a deacon in the Moravian ministry, here, tomorrow.

He will be ordained in the West Side Moravian Church by the Rev. I. R. Mewaldt, Madison, Wis., assisted by the Rev. George Westphal and the Rev. Edward Wilde, both of Green Bay. Miss Rosemary Freeman, Mr. Freeman's sister, will sing during the service.

Mr. Freeman, who is studying for a degree of Doctor of Theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, served in churches in Chaska and Northfield, Minn., Dover, O. and Coopersburg, Pa., before taking the Big Oak charge.

Water Problem

Myers, Wallace, McHugh, Breslin, DeLisio, Gallagher.

Those arguing against an extension of territory emphasized the point that the water department is unable to serve the territory it now has. "We are shutting down factories, cutting out air conditioning and even limiting the number of baths we can take," said Councilman Edward Riley. "Why extend the territory?"

Water Works Profit

The question was raised as to how much profit the water works is really making when all things are considered. It was brought out that nothing is put aside for reserve, or replacements and that some of the expenses of the water department are being paid out of general funds.

It was stated that half of the water revenues come from Bristol Township.

J. S. Lynn said that four years ago he was against an authority but that now he had changed his mind and thought that perhaps a water authority was the right thing.

It was stated by Borough Solicitor John Fullam that it had been suggested by those competent to know that the borough should apply for the extended territory, then plan to serve it when the territory developed. If the borough is not then in a position to serve the extended territory then to surrender it.

Streets Improved

Councilman Pearson reported that numerous streets and alleys are being improved and that a concrete apron had been laid at Jefferson avenue and Prospect street. He complained of the condition in which plumbers leave the streets after digging them up for connections.

Borough Engineer Livingston Joyce and Plumbing Inspector Maurice Delker were named to check all openings and to see that they are properly replaced. It was brought out that openings in streets under state highway authority are in some instances left unfinished as long as six and seven years. The borough often makes the repairs as a matter of public policy.

An exchange of correspondence between Senator Watson and the State Highway Department was read concerning the condition of some sections of Farragut avenue. The State contended this is a borough responsibility but the borough argues that it never accepted this highway from the state when it wanted to turn it back to the borough.

Gutter Grade

The owners of properties Nos. 11 and 15 Lincoln ave., were ordered to either lower the grade of a concrete gutter in front of their properties or else carry out the same grade to Wood street. It was said in council that a borough surveyor recently surveyed the area and made some chalk marks on the curbing but did not give any grades. That same night the new gutters were laid and are now five to six inches too high obstructing the flow of the water.

J. S. Lynn, chairman of police committee, reported that Police Officer Vanzant had broken some bones in one hand while assisting in making an arrest recently. He is now on desk duty. Lynn also reported that two-hour parking had been established on Third and Fourth avenues. It was stated that both Officers Bragg and Shire have completed their probationary periods and have become permanent members of the police force.

Sewage Disposal

Richard T. Myers, chairman of health and sanitation committee, reported progress in improvements being made at the sewage disposal plant. Councilman Pascale reported on conditions considered unsafe in an apartment house at Dorrance and Wood streets, generally known as the Worob property. This has been referred to Edward McIlvaine, state inspector.

Council voted authority to the water committee to advertise for bids to drill a test well at Month Apron.

On motion of Councilman Duffy council must advertise for bids on maintenance and repair projects exceeding $750 in cost.

Councilman Aitta reported that buses are not stopping properly in the areas assigned and he suggested that parking be limited to the river side of Radcliffe street. Both matters will be given further consideration.

Zoning Amendments

Council voted to conduct a hearing on a proposed amendment to the zoning law on October 12 at seven p. m. A petition signed by 55 residents was presented asking for a traffic light at Bath and Buckley streets to protect children attending the Bath street school. This was referred to committee.

A letter was read from John M. Burns, painter, protesting the award of a job of painting the municipal building to an out-of-town contractor and the alleged statement of former councilman Francis J. Byers that no painter in Bristol was capable of doing the work in a satisfactory manner.

Burgess Hetherington said that council in taking action to compel advertising for maintenance and repair projects exceeding $750 in cost, had done so in an effort to prevent a re-occurrence of such actions.

Zoning Appeal

John Fullam, borough solicitor, was instructed to represent Bristol Borough in the hearing of an appeal in the Bucks County Court filed by H. H. Goldwater of the refusal of Bristol Zoning Board of Appeal to permit a certain type of cleaning plant at Bath and Otter streets. The appeal will be heard October 8 at Doylestown.

Dominic Roberto, submitted his resignation as a member of the Bristol Zoning Board of Adjustment. It is to be effective October 1st. With Mr. Roberto's resignation Bristol finds itself without a board of appeal. Maxwell J. Gordon and Stephen Midouhas, the other members of the board, previously resigned.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Gird yourselves and ye shall be broken in pieces.—Is. 62:9.

No one wins every battle. Soon or late every tyrant has met his Waterloo.

CURSE OF SUSPICION

Serving as under-cover agents for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, two Dayton, O., men paid a stiff price for serving their country in this unusual but important capacity. Their part called for maintaining a pseudo membership in the communist party to obtain inside information of the party's plans and operations.

Not unnaturally, this aroused suspicion of the neighbors, fellow workers in the factory, and the men and their families were snubbed and penalized in many ways. The son of one lost his job because of gossip.

Recently one of the men testified for the government in the trial of an alleged communist, charged with falsely swearing he was not a communist. When the part this undercover agent for the FBI had played was revealed in court, there was a quick reversal of attitude on the part of his friends, neighbors and co-workers.

Formerly under suspicion as a traitor to his country, he is now regarded as a hero.

The moral to the story, if any, is that it might be well to be a bit slow in putting the communist brand on one's friends and neighbors. Suspicion flourishes on gossip and innuendo. In these perilous times there are those who serve as valiantly at home as those who fight on the field of battle.

It is still a good American rule that a man is innocent until proved guilty.

Kids Like Parents--With Reservations

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 — (INS) — The most hazardous occupation in the world today is parenthood, or so it seems to this innocent bystander.

Moppets, encouraged at all age levels to express their individuality, are eternally imitating Lizzie Borden. I seldom pick up a newspaper that has not dispatched a parent with forty whacks of an ax.

This sort of thing is what gives juvenile delinquency a bad name, at least among parents.

So it may console the grown-ups somewhere that to learn that "most children like their mothers and fathers but with certain definite reservations."

This semi-demi-blanket endorsement of parents reaches me through the Youth Research Institute. With Doc Kinsey keening after the old folks, there is no reason that a Mr. Lester Rand, president and director of the Institute, shouldn't cross-question the kids.

Mr. Rand, interested in "the tastes, attitudes and opinions of young people," has conducted a coast-to-coast survey on what boys and girls from 5 to 12 years of age think of their parents' effort to rear them in a way that will keep them out of the pokey.

It occurs to me that the conclusions reached by this survey are not apt to ground-loop anyone from sheer surprise. As I case the poll, kids think they are smarter than their parents and are impatient of discipline.

If I remember correctly, this was the general complaint in my mob when I was in the 5-to-12 age bracket.

I felt the grown-ups were nice and well-meaning but scarcely bright enough to cross the street by themselves with the traffic lights in their favor.

My parents had not had the benefit of a progressive education and it never occurred to either that you had to give an infant a logical argument as to why he shouldn't throw the cereal on the floor. They just gave him the back of the hand or the hair brush.

Apparently, even today, there are a substantial number of parents who cling to this old-fashioned theory, because 88 percent of the kids polled beamed that parents are too arbitrary. Eighty-three percent beamed that their parents "just gave orders with no reasons," like Mama and Papa used to do.

Mr. Rand obviously leans to the progressive method, but he says "parents would find the going easier in raising their children if they learn to give simple, understandable explanations when asking them to do something."

Parenthood gets harder and more hazardous by the minute. The tiny tykes in this poll are fed up with parents who can't answer even simple questions about such common phenomena as "rocket ships, space travel and life on other planets."

"It might be a good idea if parents kept up with the times or took a course in mechanics, electronics or aeronautical engineering," Mr. Rand suggests, thereby setting parent hood back a good 50 years. What are all those comic books for, a good many indignant parents are probably asking by this time.

I know this dates me, but truth will out. The modern child dreads no punishment more than being deprived of television viewing privileges, this survey shows.

Land sakes When I got too rambunctious, Mama put me to bed. And usually I was glad to lie face down!

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FRANKFORT, Germany—France and Great Britain should learn an economic lesson from the rapid industrial and financial recovery of West Germany.

Helped by the Marshall Plan and Economic Cooperation Administration billions from the United States, West Germany, at the end of five years as a new republic, is a shining example of what a free market economy and sound money can do for a nation.

Industrial production has increased 192 per cent since 1948 and is 60 per cent higher than the 1936 level. And this in the face of a 20 per cent increase in population.

Real wages for the German working man are 52 per cent higher than they were in 1948 and 20 per cent above the pre-war income scale.

Farm production has doubled since 1948, and is noticeably higher than during the 1935-38 period before Hitler took the country into war.

The results in West Germany strike a visitor as a miracle; yet neither the American monetary aid, nor the traditional energy and thrift attributed to the average German, is a complete explanation of what has happened here.

The real answer is that West Germans have refused, in the face of Socialist-minded Allied officials, to knuckle under to collectivist economic theories. The beginning of the German economic recovery was in 1948 when, despite the demands of Gen. Lucius Clay, West German government officials tossed off the yoke of commodity market controls and a wild-eyed inflated-money economy.

When the war ended, the West Germans were fed up with National Socialism and its inevitable controls. They had to battle valiantly, however, to prevent imposition of even stricter Socialism by the occupation "brains" imported from a Socialist London and a Fair Deal Washington.

West Germany was ripe for the economic planners in 1948. She had undergone a war economy, with the backbreaking aspects of a welfare state and all the other Socialist experiments that were spawned in Communist Russia and later by Hitler.

The success of West Germany in rebuilding her economy despite the Socialist planners rankles the Russians more than anything else, despite their propaganda claims that the German Republic is opposed to peace and cooperation with the Kremlin. What really hurts is that West Germans rebuilt their economy without taking any advice from advocates of all-out government control.

When West Germany was being flooded with refugees, Allied officials harped on the need for a Fair Deal type of welfare state to reduce unemployment. Even the United Nations took a hand in the global propaganda demands. The Bonn government uttered a few polite statements recognizing the demand, and then went about taking care of the jobless by ordinary economic means—in other words, the German Republic gave industry a free hand to create the labor market without any government pump priming.

West Germany is not completely out of the economic woods, of course, but only the most blind visitor would overlook the signs all about him that the republic is well on the way to total recovery. This despite the fact that taxes are necessarily high, there are numerous bureaucrats on the republic's payroll and, as usual, sincere cries of distress are heard from those forced to live on pensions or income from investments.

By comparison to France, Italy and Great Britain, however, the West German Republic is an economic paradise. Yet Marshall Plan aid to Germany was piddling compared to the billions poured down the drain via the other three nations.

We never insisted that Marshall Plan money for Italy, France and the British be used to promote Socialist planning. These governments imposed collectivist theories on their own hook. When our new and Fair Deal officials tried to make the West Germans follow suit they were ignored—fortunately. Any comparison now between the recovery here and in the three other nations is the obvious answer to whether the West Germans were right or wrong in reverting to the free economy without a WPA, OPA or the other alphabetical boomerangs that we got saddled with.

Your Birthday by STELLA

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 15

Born today, you have an energetic and forceful personality which will carry you forward to important heights if you learn how to take full advantage of the opportunities which come to you. In youth it is likely that you will have a real "Gypsy foot" and will be actually unhappy unless you are traveling over the wide world. Yet, as you grow in experience and knowledge, you will realize that you do have to settle down and grow roots if you are to prosper. But since you have the rare gift of making your own environment exciting there is rarely a dull moment when you are around.

Although you appear to have a happy-go-lucky nature, it is really a covering for a very deep nature. You seem to sense things that other people have to learn. Then, too, you know exactly how to present your ideas and plans to others so that all become as excited and as interested in seeing them a success as you are. You are a good one to start the ball rolling on a project. Learn to stick around long enough to see where it lands!

You have very strong likes and have been admitted to your circle of close friends. It is for life. Your loyalties are exceptionally strong and you need to guard against being partial to your own family and close friends. This is especially true if you plan to enter public life—a sphere to which you are eminently suited.

Your love nature is strongly developed and you should wed at an early age. If you have no home ties, you are apt to roam.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

One Big Difference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—From time to time one hears or reads of complaints that the Eisenhower Administration is following along Roosevelt-Truman lines and that there is no great difference between them. This is not well based. Yet it is mouthed by many politicians and propagandists formerly attached to the New Deal-Fair Deal regimes, who lack the wit to see that the great spending days are over, never to return. The country may recover from the harm that has been done but it will take a long time and hard work.

One thing that can be said about these complaints is that they do not come from the organizers' labor bosses. They know better. For them the difference is clear and distinct. From January, 1936, to January, 1953, these "labor statesmen" (as the "liberal" columnists like to call them), had the run of the White House as no group had had before. The Murphys, the Greens, the Reuthers, the Meany's, the Krolls, the Tobins, the Dubinskys and assorted others ran in and out practically as they pleased, always assured of a warm presidential welcome for whatever proposal they were currently interested in whether it was new legislation or an industry-wide strike.

For seventeen years this had been their greatest asset. White House support enabled them to build up their unions and extend their membership. It made it possible for them to enter politics in such a way as to openly dominate the Democratic party. Many will recall the 1944 Chicago convention when at the late Mr. Roosevelt's humiliating direction Mr. Truman's name for the vice presidential nomination had to be "cleared" with Mr. Sidney Hillman and Mr. Phillip Murray before the convention could act. This was a sample of the extent to which the Roosevelt Administration would go for the labor bosses. But there were many others, perhaps, the most degrading being the 1951 Truman promise to the CIO not to use the Taft-Hartley Act in the national interests in the event of a steel strike. Also, the infamous effort, thwarted by the Supreme Court, to seize the steel plants regardless of the merits of the controversy. Clearly, the labor bosses were established as a specially favored class.

In return for this priceless White House aid, the labor bosses were supposed—and did—throw their full strength behind the Democratic candidates. They contributed heavily with money, publicity and advice. They made the presidential policies theirs and Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman made the labor policies theirs. It was supposed to be an unbeatable combination and so it seemed up to 1949 when the Taft-Hartley bill was enacted over the Truman veto and Senator Taft followed that up by overwhelming beating them in Ohio, when with money, propaganda and full administration support they "ganged up" to "drive him out of public life."

Last year General Eisenhower repeated this performance on a nationwide scale and entered the White House the first President for two decades wholly free of any financial or political obligation to any labor boss. Without exception they were all against him—and still are—as witness the recent belyaching, demagogic Labor Day speeches of the Messrs. Reuther and Meany. It seems hard to believe that any detached observer could compare this Administration to those preceding it and not realize that there is a very great difference, indeed. Certainly, there is no hostility here now toward organized labor its leaders. Neither the President nor his aides harbor any grudge against them. There will be some amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act along lines approved by Senator Taft in which General Ike concurs and which ought to be applauded by labor leaders generally—though, perhaps that is too much to hope.

However, it is now clear that the CIO and AFL labor bosses are no longer in the driver's seat in Washington. They do not and cannot affect Administration policies. They are unable to dominate Government officials. They no longer scare Congress and no one is very much afraid of them. They keep up a more or less steady stream of poisonous publicity, but it is relatively ineffective. Responsible officials here want to protect the rights of organized labor and give it everything to which it is entitled—but no more. And the "great labor statesmen" so accustomed to dictate and dominate are not in position to bully or brow-beat either the Government or the party in power.

Few will deny that this is a salubrious change, good for the country and good for everybody else, including organized labor. Nor will many deny that it is a change strongly desired by the great bulk of the American people. Getting the heavy heel of these "labor statesmen" off the neck of the American President was a great achievement and a great change. There ought not to be any favored class in this country—and there seems to be none now.

Today's Quiet Moment

"For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise." Hebrews 10:36.

In the same way that the result of evil is not often immediate, in the same way the result of doing good seems to tarry. Just as fear is the immediate unseen result of evil, so is peace the result of doing the will of God. But just as surely as evil works out to the light of day, so also does good. We are never impatient if the result of evil is long in coming, neither must we be impatient waiting for good.

Almighty and everlasting God, who, of thy tender love towards mankind, hast sent thy Son, our Saviour Jesus Christ, to take upon him our flesh, and to suffer death upon the cross, that all mankind should follow the example of his great humility; Mercifully grant, that we may both follow the example of his patience, and also be made partakers of his resurrection; through the same Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

LET US SHOW YOU EXACTLY WHY IT PAYS TO SWITCH TO MERCURY

DISCOVER YOUR SAVINGS ON ORIGINAL COST

You get more money for your present car. Mercury's soaring popularity lets us operate at a higher volume, lower profit per deal. We can afford to give far-better-than-average trade-in allowances.

You get more new car for your money. Mercury prices start below some models of "low-priced" cars. Yet you get luxury features unmatched in cars costing far more than Mercury! You even save on optional power features—up to 22% on power steering! And only Mercury in its class offers you a 4-way power seat that adjusts up and down as well as back and forth.

SEE HOW YOU SAVE ON OPERATING COST

You save by the mile. Compare Mercury's past 4-year record for economy (with overdrive) in official tests. (We'll be glad to show you the figures.) You'll discover that no other car can match its consistent record. You save by the gallon. You can use regular gasoline. You save by the year. Mercury's stamina cuts maintenance to a rock-bottom low. (91% of all Mercurys ever built for use in this country are still on the road!)

COMPARE FUTURE SAVINGS ON TRADE-IN VALUE

Mercury consistently tops its class for trade-in value. (We have authoritative market reports that prove it.) The reason? People recognize extra value. They know that Mercury's years-ahead styling will protect their investment best by staying newer-looking longer. They know that Mercury's performance is proven V-8 performance—for Mercury is the only car that has always used V-8 engines exclusively.

Why not stop around at our showroom, or phone us, today? Let us show you exactly—with figures, features, and at the wheel—why it will pay you to make your next car a Mercury.

Levittown Little Leaguers Hear A's Scout At 1st Annual Banquet

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 15.—"Make them notice you when you go out on the field. The ball player who is noticed will get somewhere. The one who sloughs around may as well hang up his uniform as he is not interested and will go nowhere."

That was the advice given by Russell "Lena" Blackburne, scout of the Philadelphia Athletics, at the first annual banquet of the Levittown Little League last night at Holiday Inn, Falls Township.

Blackburne also told the boys to appreciate what the men in Levittown are doing to help them build their future. "The ones who appreciate what is being done will have a future, while those that don't will have no future."

"You boys have the greatest opportunity in your walk of life with the help of your leaders—so appreciate what they are doing. If you run out of leaders you will be out of luck," the A's scout cautioned the boys.

Gives Advice

Before he closed his talk, Blackburne told the ball players: "Don't overlook your parents. And don't think you are smarter than your parents, because they are way ahead of you."

Blackburne deplored the boys who sit on steps and wait until an automobile comes to pick them up. He expressed his thoughts that boys who are interested in baseball will get to the game instead of waiting for a ride.

"The A's scout reminisced about his early ball-playing days in Bristol and gave several stories about various players on the A's ball team. Blackburne also took a dig at some of the Philadelphia baseball fans who continually "ride" ball players. He cited the fact that Ben Zernial is hitting more home runs on the road and even though Eddie Robinson has driven in over 100 runs he is still considered a "ham" to some fans.

Rowing Association To Seek Money From School Boards

Bristol and Bensalem high school will ask school boards to contribute $150 each to the Bucks County Rowing Association, to help pay the association's $3000 debt, according to John Trinsley, secretary of the group. "I talked with the athletic directors and they are going to speak to the board in favor of rowing and supporting the association," Trinsley said.

The association's debt was incurred at the June regatta, when bad weather kept attendance down. Trinsley, who is personally conducting a house to house campaign to obtain funds and new members for the association, says he has prepared a scrapbook of clippings, showing what the group has done since its formation. To date he says he has added 12 new members and received $50 in contributions.

"I have paid close to $1900 of the debt out of my own pocket," Trinsley said. "We only have two big debts left."

He expects to continue circulation of petition asking the Chamber of Commerce and local businessmen to support the rowing group. "I plan to circulate the petition through the fall and winter," he said. "By early spring we should have quite a few names."
